Discover, explore and experience intangible cultural heritage values in Latvia, Lithuania and Belarus!

The tourism route provides the opportunity to discover intangible cultural heritage tourism objects of Zemgale Region, Nereta Municipality, Jēkabpils City (LV), Vilnius and Rokiškis District (LT), as well as Polotsk and its surroundings (BLR). In Latvia visitors can see things for themselves, learn about and appreciate ethnographic folk costumes, various festivities and annual celebrations, games, songs, dances, sauna rituals, playing of musical instruments, decorating, recipes and traditional cooking skills, Latvian folk wisdom and other core values. The cultural marks of “Latvian Heritage” and “Latvian Cuisine” are regularly awarded, thus promoting them nationwide. In Lithuania, on the other hand, gourmets can enjoy the traditional culinary masterpieces so popular among tourists – boletus and šakotis, which are included on the list of Lithuanian national culinary heritage. Here, one can also enjoy dishes representing Tatar cuisine, ethnography and ancient technologies – while in Belarus one can get acquainted with folk dances, customs and songs, especially antiphonal singing, typical only for the Polotsk Region.

This tourism route offers the opportunity to visit and get acquainted with unique tourist attractions and their guardians, who preserve, cherish and carry-on significant Latvian, Lithuanian and Belarusian intangible cultural heritage values, helping to increase both knowledge and a deeper understanding of their roots.

Explore the intangible cultural heritage values that, as an inexhaustible source of identity, can be passed on to future generations!

VILNIUS DISTRICT

Vilnius District is a destination that can take visitors to the heart of tradition, history as well as give a unique experience in exploring intangible culture heritage. The traditions and religions of various nations have intertwined in this district since ancient times. It expresses the customs of the Polish, Lithuanian, Belarusian, Ukrainian, Tartar and Jewish communities, and hosts a great number of interesting traditions: traditional oral, musical culture and folk-art masterpieces. This tourism route provides an excellent chance to explore the intangible culture, many traditions deeply attached to pagan customs and get to know the specificity of Vilnius District during the workshops, presentations and demonstrations of the technologies used in the past.

Medininkai Castle

Festive intangible culture heritage educational classes for children and adults take place in one of the best-preserved castles in Lithuania. Children can take part in the class about Ancient Pagan Religion, which talks about the hierarchy and diversity of ancient gods, dukes and the role of ancient priests and priestesses of that time. A different class reveals the aspects of the medieval city's architecture, various clothing peculiarities and specific societal life that existed here hundreds of years ago. Older schoolchildren can learn more about the history of money in the world and in Lithuania. One can learn a lot at Medininkai Castle not only theoretically, but also by using the tools.

Nemėžis Tatar Community

Everybody knows about čeburekai, šimtalapiai, šurpa soup, koldūnai, plovas and balandėliai. All of these are traditional Tatar dishes which had a severe impact on forming Lithuanian culinary heritage. Dried meat, which some may think traditionally has Lithuanian roots, also came from the Tatars. Also – halva – so loved by Lithuanians, was of course brought by the Tatars. The Nemėžis Tatar community offers a unique opportunity to discover their culture, cuisine and traditions – visitors can try a meal, visit a

Neris Regional Park

It is the most heavily wooded of Lithuania's regional parks, and it includes one of the largest and oldest surviving stands of oak trees in the country. This place is a gate for everyone who would like to know more about pagan culture, natural and cultural values located on both banks of the River Neris. After all, this park has been established in the most beautiful segment of the Neris valley, which has been populated for more than 10 000 years. Visit the walking trails in the oak forest of Dūkštos: choose the mythological path, which will show the deities of the ancient Balts. Ancestors believed that the Perkūnas – god of thunder – lived in an oak tree, so pagans adored trees like sacred beings. Take a walk along the River Neris and see the burial mounds at Karmazina that are witnesses of the distant past and our forefathers' epoch. The mounds could have been built in the VI– VIII c. The park offers 9 different waking paths, interesting excursions where visitors will hear facts about the life of The Balts, listen to the frog choir or have the opportunity to track the animals according to their footprints.

Liubavas Manor and the Mill

Liubavas Manor Watermill Museum was built on the River Žalesa in the XVI c. and has been rebuilt several times since. It is a unique object of technical, historical and intangible cultural heritage that illustrates the technological aspects of the mill's centuries-long operations. In order to facilitate this, the mill's technical equipment was carefully renovated. One year after its restoration, the Europa Nostra organisation declared the museum a prime example in the conservation of European cultural heritage. Liubavas Manor is one of the oldest in Lithuania. Besides the mill, there is a possibility to visit the exhibition dedicated to 12 families who lived in Liubavas until World War II, take a walk around the manor's park, and get rest listening to the sounds of water to calm the mind.

ROKIŠKIS DISTRICT

LITHUANIA

Rokiškis belongs to the Lithuanian ethnographic region called Aukštaitija. The local dialects are still alive here; the customs, folklore, folk art, crafts and even own peculiarities of a local ethnographic character have been transferred from one generation to another. When travelling in Rokiškis District, visitors may get familiar with the riches of intangible culture heritage, see unique shutters on the streets of Rokiškis Town, and indulge in delicacies and drinks of Aukštaitija culinary heritage that are made according to old recipes and technologies and certified as National heritage products.

Kriaunos Museum

The topics of rural cultural heritage are predominant in Kriaunos Museum. Numerous work tools and works of various craftsmen (carpenters, blacksmiths, weavers, fishermen) are exhibited. The interesting and valuable works of rural inventors are shown: machines to grind linseed and to press linseed oil, pedalled bellows of the blacksmith, cabbage cutting machine, press for apple juice, and many others. The museum's interior is that of the rural home of the beginning of the XX c. The educational programmes "History of a Handbag", "Grey Bee", "Wax Filly, Flaxen Tail" are organised.

Streets of Painted Shutters

This “outdoor gallery” is open all year round. The artists have been decorating the town using the shutters since 2003 and have painted more than 250 shutters already. The shutters of houses in Independence Square, streets of Respublikos, Kauno and other streets of Rokiškis Town have been decorated. These long traditions of shutter painting bestow exclusive colours and distinctive spirit on the town and also encourage artistic self-expression.

Juodupė Home of boletus and šakotis

Two educational programmes are organised here – baking of šakotis and boletus. These sweet baked goods have been traditionally placed on the table during family celebrations in the regions of Rokiškis and Juodupė for almost one hundred years, and thus both products are certified as Lithuanian national heritage. Visitors will learn about the products of culinary heritage and their baking process: will hear the history of the tree cake and see the birth of the traditional Lithuanian tree cake in the stove heated by firewood during the tree-cake-baking educational activity. They will bake and taste the tree cake by themselves. Participants of the boletus educational activity can make small mushrooms from dough, bake and decorate them in the colours of their choice.

NERETA COUNTY

The conservation and development of Nereta County cultural and historical heritage traditions continues outdoors on the Erberge open-air stage, which has been rebuilt on its original site. Visitors can get to know old songs, dances and plays, take part in folklore events and craftsmen activities, as well as meet active and attractive people from Erberge Manor. It is definitely worth seeing the new 3D weaving exhibition at Nereta House of Culture.

11 Mazzalve Open-air Stage

On the open-air stage the Blue Lady and the Witch of Erberge manor offer old games and attractions to try, for example, walking on wooden legs, "pins", "eye blinking", "chasing rats" and the favourite Latvian dancing games – "Foal, oh, Foal", "Bee in a Rose Garden", "The last couple – split!". It is also possible to mint an ancient coin or churn butter there. Near the stage is Erberge Manor and the park with the Legends' Trail.

ZEMGALE REGION

LATVIA

During the tourism route tour, it is possible to visit and get acquainted with the tourist objects and owners who store, cherish and carry on significant values of Latvian intangible cultural heritage such as ethnographic folk costumes, festivities and anniversaries, games, songs, dances, festivals, playing of musical instruments, decorating, recipes and cooking processes, Latvian folk wisdom and other core values. The enthusiasm of these owners for cultivating these cultural and historical traditions is evidenced by the cultural mark of "Latvian Heritage" and "Latvian Cuisine" – a special acknowledgement for promoting Latvian traditions, awarded to several objects that are included on this route. If visitors wish to cultivate their knowledge and gain a deeper understanding of their roots, it is worth taking on the offer of this tourism route and playing some ancient games, tasting a traditional snack, or celebrating one of the Latvian festivities.

12 Zemgale Ancient Farmstead "Everti"

In the farmstead ensemble from the second part of the XIX c., surrounded by ancient buildings, there is a bath complex full of Latvian traditions; it has been a place of well-being, as well as recovery of body and spirit for Latvians since ancient times. Here, ancient Latvian bath rituals are offered – newborn bath rituals, bride's back washing, men's power bath, conception baths, as well as modern customs: birthday ritual and initiation ceremony baths. The farm celebrates traditional festivities, fire rituals of various kinds, offers a workshop "Health in your own hands", where visitors can discover and explore the unique properties of amber, tie their own special bath broom, make herbal salt, try out a willow rhythmic massage, and at the end there is a special fire ritual with a dedicated purpose chosen by the group of visitors, involving amber dust and various rhythmic instruments.

Heritage" for preserving Latvian traditions in a modern tourism offer. Every spring and autumn, the museum traditionally hosts "Sowing" and "Harvesting" festivals with demonstrations of ancient field works and crafts, in which the visitors also take part. During the festivities, grain is churned with a Latvian-made threshing machine "Imanta" powered by a steam engine; at the renovated water mill, one can observe the grinding of grain and preparation of pearl barley and groats, and in the farmstead, the threshing of grain with a horse mule, basket weaving, log carving, string twisting, shingle tearing as well as many other craft skills take place. In the museum one can see the only working steam locomotive "Ruston" (1912), manufactured in England, and wooden windmill in Latvia.

Stalģene Manor (Circle of Latvian Annual Traditions)

The Circle of Latvian Annual Traditions in the park of Stalģene Manor was created as an ancient solar calendar, which reflects the course of the Sun in Latvian folk wisdom. The circle consists of 8 boulders that symbolise Latvian festivities, and each of the stones has a Latvian sign of the respective festivity engraved on it. The Earth passes 8 significant points while orbiting the Sun in one year – which Latvian ancestors called seasonal festivities and celebrated as holidays. They made special preparations for the holidays: they sang songs, played games, cooked traditional dishes, performed rituals to ensure luck, joy, health, promote goodness, repel evil, express gratitude for their achievements, while ensuring fertility and good harvests. Every visitor is invited to feel the spirit of this place, as well as to participate in the celebration of traditional festivities together with the local folklore group.

Energetic Bath “Lielzemenes”

Surrounded by a picturesque forest, Latvian folk wisdom is popularised and practised through bath rituals by the bath owners, who began the revival of Latvian bath traditions. The bath attendants possess deep knowledge based on psychotherapy. The owners not only work in rural tourism and teach science at the bath school every year, they are also the authors of two Latvian folk wisdom books. The popularisation of ancient Latvian bath traditions, healing and providing harmony to guests, includes new born bath rituals, initiation rituals and special baths for women using natural materials. Visitors can also perform the rituals themselves with a little help from the hosts, thus practically passing on their knowledge and skills.

Meadow Museum

The Meadow Museum has been established in the former Kaldabruņa Primary School, where one can visit an original exposition, created as a course of human life in connection with nature and Latvian folk traditions. The museum has been awarded the cultural mark "Latvian Heritage" for preserving the natural heritage of meadows. Some expositions are dedicated to the redtop grass and protected species growing in Latvian natural meadows. The multimedia exposition "Midnight on the Meadow" offers a special experience. The video includes knowledge, images, sounds and landscapes that tell of the traditions related to events after dusk. The pride of Selonia Region is the belt of Kaldabruņa Māra, the original copy of which can be seen in the museum. Visitors can see how glass ornaments and interior items are made and try their own hand at the craft, as well as watch a laser engraving machine in action.

CITY AND DISTRICT OF POLOTSK

Songs are an inseparable part of human life from cradle to grave. Apart from songs associated with the calendar and family rituals that are found in all of Belarus, the lands of the Dvina basin near Polotsk have a number of singing genres that are either limited to specific locations or completely unknown elsewhere. Among them are valačobnyja (from Valačobniki, a ritual of going door-to-door on the first night of Easter and singing songs) and maslieničnyja (from Maslienica). Characteristic features of traditional songs in the Dvina area include antiphonal singing. Unique master classes with "Varhan" and "Halasy Spadčyny" folk groups will give visitors of Polotsk a real insight into traditional songs of the Dvina area.

Bahatyrskaja Community Centre

Polotsk District has preserved a unique ancient tradition of performing Kupallie and harvest songs 'criss-cross', i.e., in a special type of antiphonal singing. The 'criss-cross' manner is only typical of the Polotsk area and has a number of distinctive features. Visitors can get a good idea of them during the master classes with the "Halasy Spadčyny" folk group and the rituals that they perform. Guests will have a chance to learn a few traditional songs and be immersed in melodious archaic singing.

Art Project "Motifs on trees"

An ornamental pattern is a traditional combination of symbols and colours that the ancestors of modern Belarusians used for centuries. Each motif had its own meaning and function. The art project gives modern people a chance to encounter sacred elements in the traditional spiritual culture of the Slavs and to discover the meanings of the ancient motifs in all their variety. Visitors can see it if they walk from the monument to "St. Euphrosyne of Polotsk" down to the old hillfort.
